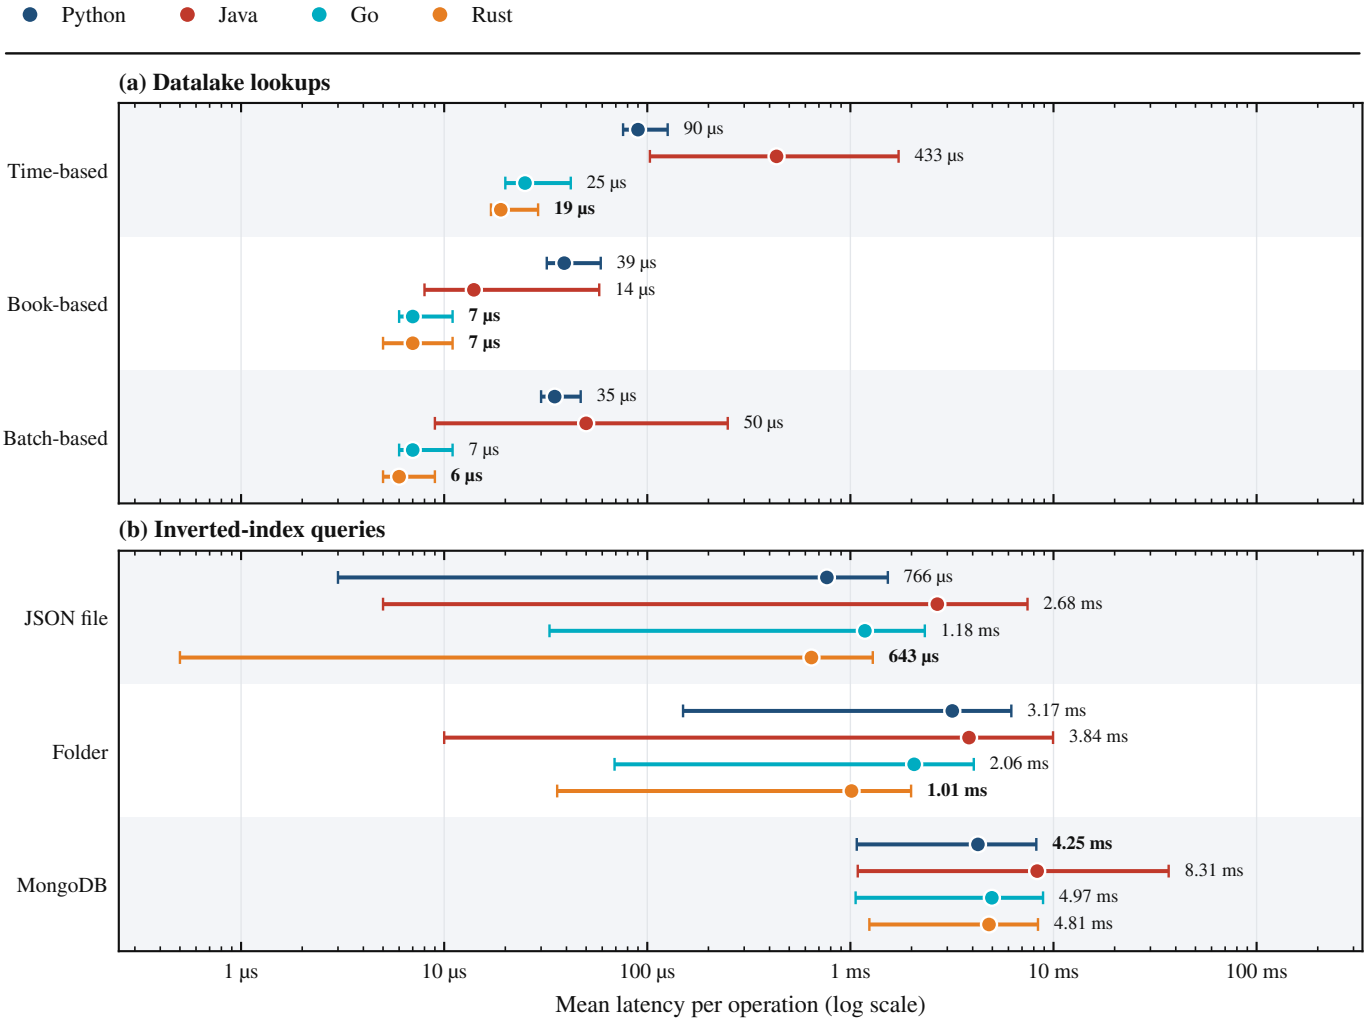
Query and lookup latency with jitter (lower is better)

Dot = mean latency per operation; whiskers = ±1 standard deviation. Bold label = fastest language.



Lower whiskers are clipped at the fastest observed run: latency is right-skewed, so mean − SD can be negative. Minimums reported as 0 s (below timer resolution) are drawn at 500 ns.